The Doris Campbell Memorial Fund

The Doris Campbell Memorial Fund was set-up by my family, following the death of my grandmother in 2006. My grandmother was the daughter of William Craven-Ellis, who was one of the two Southampton MPs between 1931 and 1945. Doris worked with my great grandfather and had many happy memories of her involvement with Southampton and its people.

It was for this reason the Campbell family donated £1 million to the HIWCF to set-up and establish a fund in her memory.

My family do not have the time or resources to commit to adequately researching and ultimately evaluating all the numerous local charitable causes requesting funding. HIWCF have all the answers and what’s great about them is that they can find and assess local charitable work where there is a genuine case of need and that match our charitable wishes. They do all the legwork and provide us with all the necessary information for us to make better and more informed decisions on all aspects of our funding.
